DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Fichou et al.(5,790,522).

Fichou et al. teaches a serial transmission path switching system comprising:

a switch section(Fig. 2@24 having a plurality of input lines and a plurality of output lines to perform line-switching between input and output lines (Fig. 2), a plurality of first serial transmission paths connected to the input lines, respectively (Fig. 2 arrows leading from receive adapters to switch), input buffers connected to the input side communication devices and terminals of the first serial transmission paths (Fig. 2, transmission paths from sources are connected to input lines via input queues) respectively, to equalize transmission signals from said input side communication devices and send the signals to the first serial transmission paths(Fig. 2@25).

a plurality of second serial transmission paths connected to the input lines, respectively(Fig. 2, transmission paths leading to destinations are connected to output lines via queue), output buffers connected to the output side communication devices and terminals of the second serial transmission paths, respectively, to equalize transmission signals from the second serial transmission paths and send the signals to said output side communication devices(Fig. 2, output queues), a receiving section inserted between the first serial transmission paths and the input lines to receive the transmission signals from the first serial transmission paths and to supply the signals to the input lines(Fig. 2, RSI), a transmitting section inserted between the output lines and the second serial transmission paths to receive the transmission signals from the output lines and supply the signals to the second serial transmission paths(Fig. 2@XSI).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 4-5 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 9-24 are allowed.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Kenneth N Vanderpuye whose telephone number is 703-308-7828. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F(7:30-5:00) Second Friday Off.
